MEET THE NEW OFFICERS AND NEW MEMBERS OF THE BUSINESS HISTORY CONFERENCE

Kendra Boyd is an Assistant Professor of History at Rutgers University in Camden, New Jersey. She earned a BA in Business Administration from Wayne State University and a PhD in History from Rutgers University-New Brunswick. She is a scholar of African American history, focusing on black entrepreneurship, racial capitalism, migration, and urban history. She is the author of "A 'Body of Business Makers': The Detroit Housewives League, Black Women Entrepreneurs, and the Rise of Detroit's African American Business Community" (Enterprise & Society) and is currently writing a book on black entrepreneurship in Great Migration era Detroit, Michigan. Dr. Boyd also co-edited (with Deborah Gray White and Marisa J. Fuentes) Scarlet and Black, Volume 2: Constructing Race and Gender at Rutgers, 1865-1945, (Rutgers University Press, 2020).

Dr. Kendra Boyd joined the board of trustees of the BHC in 2021.

Louise Karlskov Skyggebjerg joined BHC earlier this year [2021] because it felt natural when I became part of the Centre of Business History at Copenhagen Business School (CBS). I have for many years worked with the history of technology and Danish industry with a special interest in the history of materials, mundane artifacts, and what we call "the Black transition" in an environmental history project I'm currently part of. Among my previous articles is one in History and Technology about the interconnected stories of egg trays, life cycle assessments, and corporate environmentalism. Another in Rethinking History is about materials that tell histories of change with an outset in a piece of concrete, titanium spectacle frames, and a broken zinc nail, all objects used for teaching purposes at a technical university. At CBS, my primary focus is on the history of savings bank foundations. I admit that finance and foundation history represent a bit of a turn from my previous work—and I'm still trying to figure out how an interest in new materialism best feeds into these areas. However, it is rather fun to have to rethink your own work and position in the broader field of business history and I'm very much looking forward to getting to know more about the work of other BHC members.
